

Project Systems

Information Systems are the lifeblood of organisations. Any change to an existing system requires careful consideration, solid expertise and a trusted project planner.

As project experts with strong systems credentials and commercial acumen, we have a track record of success in every respect, from evaluation and selection, through to implementation, integration and training.

And because we don't have commercial ties to products — just a genuine commitment to service — we always act in our clients' best interests.

The perfect project planner

Organisations come in all shapes and sizes but they have one thing in common, their systems component is vital for the day-to-day running of the business. So when it's time to make changes or upgrade to a new system, the project inevitably becomes a high profile undertaking.

Selecting a suitable advisor and project partner is therefore one of the most important decisions. Strong technical skills, a solid history of project successes and total accessibility are clearly a must; and BDA ticks all of the boxes.

We also operate wholly independently of vendors and products, which means that we never compromise when we advise you. Our focus is unequivocally on achieving best possible outcomes for our clients.

“Getting it right” is paramount

Evaluating the various options is critical. We are acutely aware that a poor selection process has far-reaching consequences. Our approach reflects that, and provides clear, concise and considered guidance along the way. We can assist in all systems aspects, from business case development and requirements identification right through to vendor engagement, tendering, evaluation and selection.

Managing Risks

Information systems are inherently intertwined with the operational capability of a business. As such, any systems change must not expose the organisation to undue risks.

The effective management of risks is therefore a non-negotiable aspect of any systems project. BDA affords you peace of mind, because risk management is a mainstay of our project expertise.

Implementation without hiccups

When you implement a new system it needs to integrate seamlessly with existing business processes, structures and systems; and it must hit the mark the first time. BDA has extensive technical implementation experience and subject matter expertise to deliver the desired results.

Project management mastery

The management of a systems project is not for the faint hearted. The potential pitfalls are plentiful and go beyond cost overruns, poor implementation or user adoption issues. As project management experts we have the tools and the experience to successfully manage multi-disciplinary teams.

Tailored technical service

Systems upgrades are rarely a “plug and play” exercise. They often need additional software development to enhance off-the-shelf systems or to improve interfaces with third-party systems. Sometimes circumstances even demand the development of bespoke software and database solutions. BDA can assist in either scenario. We have the technical capability to give you solutions, not excuses.

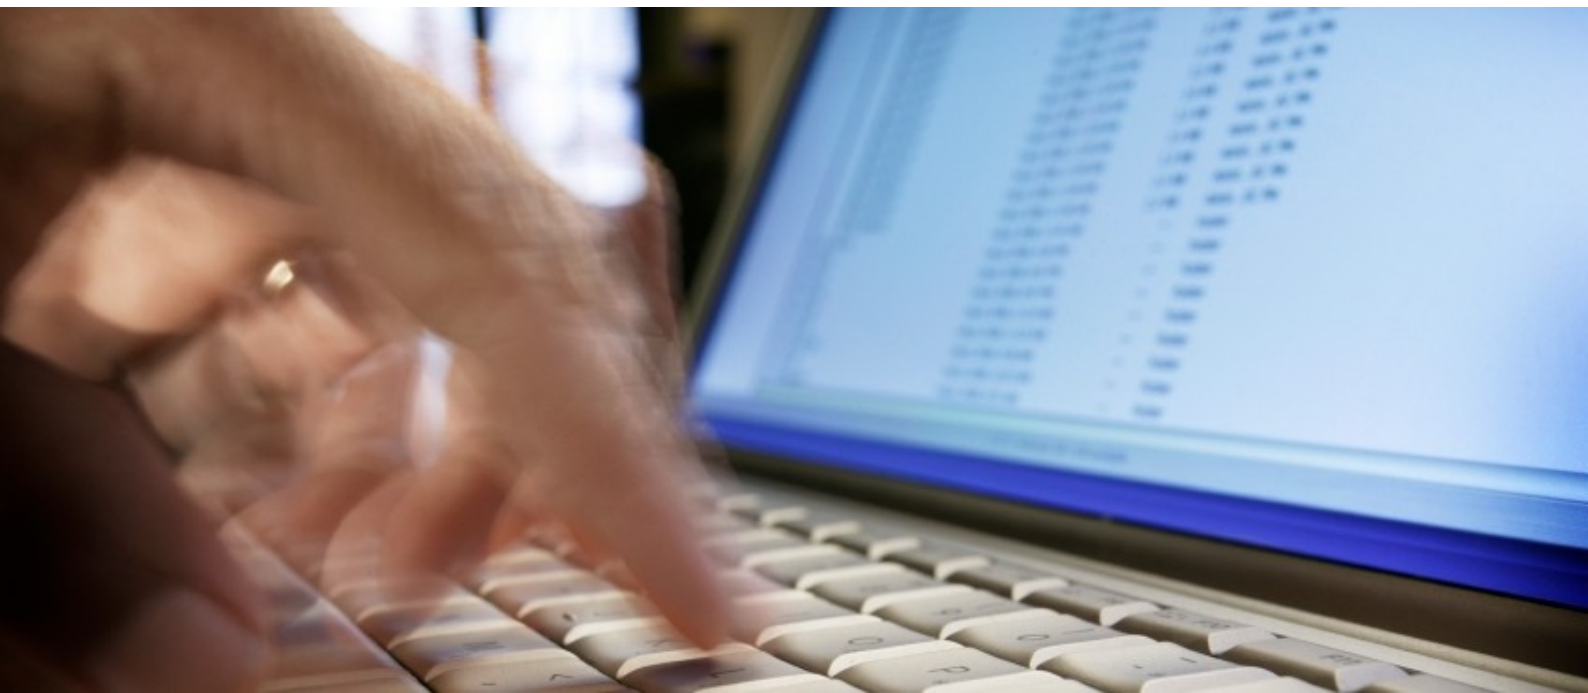

Superior choice

As client-focused service providers, we adopt a flexible approach in our service delivery and work in concert with our client's teams. Thus, we collaborate closely with operational units to address real business needs, while also working alongside your IT experts. As a result, you can make the most of your in-house capabilities and count on us to manage everything else.
